Betreff: exhibition 'the figure'

Hello.

It's another exhibition! This might well be the last one I take part in this year so do come and join us for this show, which focuses on the human figure. It's at the Burgh House in Hampstead (NW3 1LT).

To join us at the private view on Wednesday 26th July please RSVP to privateview@ecclestoneartagency.com
More details, opening times etc. below in the 'official bit' and flyer or else just email me.

I will also be at the gallery on Sunday, 30th July, from 2pm-4.30pm.

It would be lovely to see you there.

wax and pottery figures to later works using paints of all kinds. These works have been fertility figures, representations of strength, movement, prowess or beauty. Michelangelo mastered the representation of intense emotion in his figures and Picasso characterised the figure in a neo-classical mode.

This exhibition displays the representation of the figure in equally diverse ways and over several mediums: some are distinctly contemporary, some classical and others experiment with the human form. Ultimately, they are all engaging and thought provoking.

Artists: Jacob Chandler, Glenn Davis, Alexander Debenham, John Wood, Jess de Zilva.

Open 12 to 5 on Wed Thurs Fri and Sunday. Closed Saturday
